Mediation Herts

is a voluntary agency that offers an independent mediation service to parents and schools affected by bullying.

We can listen to your concerns and help you decide what action to take.

We can offer advice and support.

We can set up meeting with others affected by the situation.

Independent mediators will arrange and facilitate the meetings

Young People's views will be included in the process

Agreements made at meetings will be written up and copied to those involved.

Who this service is for

For parents who feel that bullying issues have not been resolved

For schools and schools settings dealing with bullying issues

We will help you reach agreements which everyone supports to decide the best way forward.
